PRINCE ALBERT, SEPT. 11, 1894.

It is expected that in the course of a few days the people of Prince Albert will have the pleasure of receiving a visit from the Hon. Wilfred Laurier, the leader of Her Majesty's loyal opposition in the Dominion Parliament. On such an occasion, we believe, a hearty welcome should be accorded to this distinguished statesman without regard to any political distinction or religious difference. The hon. gentleman comes here, we understand, with the intention of expressing his views on certain political and economical questions of the day, and we suppose, with the hope of converting as many of us to his way of thinking as he possibly can. We do not blame him for that; it is human nature. Again, do not run away with the idea that the hon. gentleman is spending time and money solely for the benefit of the people of Manitoba and the North West without a streak of self in the undertaking. No politician, no, not even a straight-back Conservative would do that; therefore let us not blame Mr. Laurier for having an eye to number one, for this also is human nature. Therefore taking the Hon. Wilfred Laurier as a statesman as good as the next one and better than a great many, let us cast aside all political differences and let Liberals and Conservatives unite in according the distinguished statesman a right royal reception.

The Winnipeg Nor-Wester justly points out that those ardent supporters of the deep water channel to the Atlantic are a little too fast in their calculations. The money required to carry out this project cannot be raised by Canada alone; and as the scheme is an international one, we must look to the United States to bear a portion of the burden. But Uncle Sam will not advance the money unless he obtains a share of the control, and a share of the control would undoubtedly impair the independence of Canada, which must not for a moment be thought of. Unrestricted reciprocity having failed to get us under the claws of the American eagle, may not this be a fresh scheme to rope us into the liberties of the land of pistols and bowie-knives. Mr. James Fisher, M.P. of Manitoba, who is the earnest supporter of this daring scheme, throws cold water upon the proposed Hudson Bay Railway, but it would be far better to have this route to the seaboard within our own territories than to lose one iota of our independence. And besides all this, the Hudson Bay Railway would be more of a benefit to the Northwest than ever this deep water scheme could possibly be.

The Hon. Mr. Laurier seems to be basing about the bush with regard to the Hudson Bay Railway. In his speech at Winnipeg he says, "Not only have the Government been unable to make up their mind, but they are also not in favour of a railway to Hudson Bay. They do not take the trouble to make any investigation as to the character of the Hudson Bay navigation." It may be that the Government at Ottawa is not in favor of the railway, but they incorporated the company and gave it a liberal charter and a large land grant. It voted also a subsidy in aid of the Saskatchewan section of the road to the amount of $80,000 a year for twenty years; all of which was vigorously opposed by Mr. Laurier and his friends in the House. The Government also sent out several expeditions to investigate the navigation of Hudson Bay, viz. Lieut. A. R. Gordon in Hudson Bay and Straits, and also Prof. R. Bell around the shores of Hudson Bay, which Mr. Laurier has evidently forgotten. It is rather cool of Mr. Laurier to blame the Government in this matter.

There are two papers in the Province of Quebec, namely, "L'Evening" and "La Presse," that are nicknamed like blazes because the Exhibition Company has decided that only the Dominion flag shall be permitted to be placed on the Quebec Exhibition buildings, although exhibitors have the liberty to decorate their exhibits according to their own pleasure. This decision of the Company is, of course, different from the usual custom in the Province of Quebec, but we cannot help thinking that it is a wise innovation, and the French speaking people of our Dominion should not forget that this is a British country.

The nomination for the election of Mayor for the Town of Prince Albert for the remainder of the civic year will take place on Saturday the 15th inst. Two of our aldermen, we believe, are in the field, viz. Mr. T. O. Davis and Mr. Fred Baker, either of whom would fill the bill with credit to the town. It is believed, however, that Mr. Davis will have a clear walk over the course.

LIFE IN RUPERT'S LAND

IN THE OLDEN TIME.

By JAMES STEWART.

FIFTH PAPER.

Next was Soper, the man who knew everything from the calculation of an eclipse to the sticking of a pig. This individual was from the heights of Pomona where the inhabitants rarely ever get a glimpse of the ocean. Mr. Soper, it appears, had crossed the Pentland Firth once in his lifetime and in consequence was no slouch of a traveler in his own estimation. The Pentland Firth at the point of crossing is about seven miles wide. This individual was the general butt of the party on account of his propensity to brag and draw the long bow. Some of our party, I am sorry to say, would relate some tall story of his own experience in order to draw out Soper, who would invariably produce something of his own which would knock the other into the shade altogether. But I shall pass on and leave Mr. Soper for the mean time, nothing doing but that he will turn up on some future occasion. These were the two most conspicuous characters in our company, but take them all in all they were quite a jolly lot and got along together very well. We had plenty of good food and very little work to do; the weather was delightful as a rule, with the exception of one gale in mid ocean that lasted for about twenty-four hours.

My principal occupation was in doing small jobs in the way of splicing ropes or other little work about the rigging. My companion at work was a sailor of the ship, named John Hicks. He was a first class seaman having served his time in the Royal Navy. We were fast friends and had many a good joke together. I remember however, playing off one that nearly got me into serious trouble at the time. It was on a beautiful calm day, the ship was lying almost motionless, the Atlantic being nearly as smooth as a mirror. Hicks and I were sitting by the window engaged in fixing some rope in connection with the fore top-sail, and at the same time laughing at old George the cook, who was walking around the deck, busy getting up dinner for the officers and cabin passengers. In a little time our joking finished I was sent aloft to receive the rope through the block. I went and did as required, which being done, Hicks called to me to throw down the end of the rope to him. Just at that moment I perceived that old George had deposited a large pile of plates and dishes on the deck in front of the cook's galley in order to have them washed. Just then the wicked thought entered my mind that if I could manage to hit that pile of dishes with the end of the rope, it might have the effect of dissipating that drowsy feeling which seemed to pervade the people on deck at that time. Accordingly as old George was standing beside the pile, tucking up his sleeves preparatory to commencing operations, I gathered up a few coils of rope in my hand and taking a steady aim for old George and his pile, I made a throw. My aim was a true one; the rope descended grazing old George's ear and landing straight in the midst of the pile of crockery with a crash knocking the whole affair into splinters. The noise aroused all hands on deck from their lethargy and caused them to rush to the lee side of the cook's galley to find out the cause of the commotion. Meanwhile old George stood for a moment transfixed, apparently unable at first to realize the magnitude of the disaster. At length his pent up feelings found vent and well, I never heard such a profane old rascal in all my life, the air was lurid with swearing. I was nearly on the point of going down and chastise the old sinner on the spot, but I suddenly remembered that I ought to stay where I was and watch the course of the wind, and besides, if I went down I might meet with an accident, and I was safe where I was seeing old George was too clumsy to climb the rigging. I therefore stood down to the fore-cast and sat down and waited till the storm would blow over. After swearing a spell the old fellow seemed to be much relieved and finally with the help of the boys around the pieces were thrown overboard, after which old George resumed his wonted demeanour. I saw then that the storm had abated and therefore I ventured down. Old George met me with a laugh, and remarking with a significant nod, "The Company is rich."

Shortly after this the temperature began to fall and the short nights became quite cool, an indication that we were approaching the icy regions of the north. On the 21st of July we sighted two large icebergs sailing along in stately grandeur. It was with mingled feelings of admiration and awe that I gazed upon these stately blocks of ice moving on in solitary silence, reminding me of some ancient Gothic castles broken loose from earth and drifting away upon the ocean. We were now in Davis Straits and drawing near to the entrance of Hudson Straits. The sea now became smoother and the icebergs more numerous, while here and there seen small flocks of ice, and whales were frequently noticed. On the 24th of July we discovered land for the first time after leaving Europe; it was Cape Resolution on Resolution Island at the eastern entrance of Hudson Straits, lat. 61 deg. 30 min. N. and long. 65 deg. 10 min. W. It seemed a bleak cluster of black rocks without any sign of vegetation. The shores were strewn with icebergs of all shapes and sizes, while the sea all around was thickly covered with floating ice, and the utmost caution had to be exercised in threading our way through it, especially on the night, but luckily the nights were quite short and not very dark.

About this time there was considerable merriment among the boys caused by the appearance of James Murray, a Shetlander, who through a severe attack of sea sickness and laziness—chiefly the latter had kept himself under hatches from the time left Stromness until now, when the ship having got into smooth water he ventured on deck. There was no end to the banter he received on his appearance. One of the boys gravely introduced him to the rest of the company as a fresh passenger come on board, having made his escape from the Equinox, after being held prisoner by them for some years. Some would ask him why he did not bring his Equinox wife with him, while others declared that it was a burning shame for a man to run away and leave his family even although they were half Equinox, and thus they went on from one thing to another with an incessant torrent of raillery on the poor fellow.

On the 26th we arrived at Nottingham Island, which lies nearly half-way between the Straits. We lay becalmed a long way off shore among the ice which was pretty thick here. Between us and the shore were extensive ice floes with a great many stately icebergs towering amongst them.

Appreciating the very liberal patronage bestowed upon him by the ladies of the town and district, Mr. T. O. Davis has, this fall, put forth an extra effort to make this department of his business complete in every particular. He now invites his lady patrons to call and inspect his full stock of millinery, mantles, dress goods, gloves, hosiery, &c. &c. In fact any article of dress that a lady requires. Mr. Davis is very proud of his ladies' department, and thinks it can be beaten in the North West Territories.

My Hood's Sarsaparilla—Blood Poisoned by Cancer.

Read the following from a grateful mother: "My little boy had Scarlet Fever when 4 years old, and it left him very weak and with blood poisoned with cancer. His eyes became so inflamed that his sufferings were intense, and for seven weeks he Could Not Open His Eyes. I took him twice during that time to the Eye and Ear Infirmary on Charles street, but their remedies failed to do him the faintest shadow of good. I commenced giving him Hood's Sarsaparilla and it soon cured him. I have never doubted that it saved his vision, even if not his very life. You may use this testimonial in any way you choose. Continued from first page.

Flett of the office of secretary treasurer of the Diocese last autumn, the Executive Committee appointed Rev. E. Macleod to fill the vacancy.

There are now twenty (20) clergymen in Saskatchewan; and fifteen (15) to be increased to eighteen (18) almost at once in Calgary. No doubt these will be a demand for a steady increase in the number in both Dioceses. Under these circumstances each Diocese should have its own Bishop. Ever since my appointment I have done everything in my power to bring this about. But progress is slow. If the Synod can suggest any course likely to hasten on an event that church people everywhere would rejoice over and needs as heartily as myself—I will indeed be glad.

Since our last meeting the various branches of the Church of England in Canada have been united in one General Synod, and the General Synod has made unanimous choice of our venerated Metropolitan—on whom as well as on the Metropolitan of the Province of Ontario it conferred the title of Archbishop to be the first Primate of all Canada. No doubt the Synod will desire to offer its hearty congratulations to His Grace, the Primate, will elect its clerical and lay delegates—one of each order—to the General Synod, and will do all that lies within the scope of its influence to make this new organization a powerful factor in the development of the Church of England in Canada.

The need of better organization—more especially in the leading parishes of the Diocese—having been felt. Application has been made to the Legislative Assembly, now in session at Regina, for an ordinance to incorporate the duly organized parishes of the Diocese, so that the Incumbents and Churchwardens of each of them may be a corporation under the Synod, for holding such lands and other property as they may from time to time acquire. In order to give full effect to such ordinance, and also to meet the changing conditions of our parishes in towns and villages, it is desirable to have a new Canon or Parochial Organization. I propose, therefore, to submit to your consideration the Canon relating to this matter from the Diocese of Calgary, which is almost identical with the one for Rupert's Land. It works well in both Dioceses, as also do the incorporation of parishes. At the present time there are exactly twenty (20) duly organized parishes in the Diocese of Calgary. It may be well perhaps to retain our present Canon on organization of a Parish or Mission, and to limit its application to our Indian Mission.

At the beginning of the year I arranged with the Gibson Printing Company of Calgary for the publication of a monthly magazine, in the interests of my two Dioceses, to consist of the inside sheets of "The Church Monthly" published in London, and five pages of local matter included in the title pages. The agreement is for a year. The company is to publish five hundred copies monthly, to print, wrap, address and post, one hundred extra copies of the Diocesan matter only for friends in Eastern Canada and England I am to pay seven dollars ($7.00) per month, with two dollars ($2.00) per month for the extra 100 copies, and such postage as they may cost. If the Synod approves of this transaction, I shall be glad if it will say so. The Synod of Calgary has heartily approved. And then it is to be a success, the clergy must contribute to its pages, and friends of our work must by taking it themselves and by doing their best to induce others to take it in endeavour to make it as successful as possible.

I do not know what action if any has been taken on the resolutions of this Synod with reference to religious teaching in our public schools. During the session of the General Synod last autumn, the committee on the educational work of the church appointed by the General Synod brought in the following report, which was adopted, viz., "That in their judgment religious teaching in the public schools is absolutely necessary in order better to fulfill the true purpose of education, and to conserve the highest interests of the nation at large; and the committee requests the General Synod to affirm the principles herein contained."

This is a very important question and it is one that the General Synod is specially well qualified to deal with. At the same time we must remember that we who live and labour in the Northwest have special responsibilities towards our own schools and the rising generation now being educated in them. I commend this question, therefore to your earnest consideration and would beg you to take such steps with reference to it as will show that you believe that the training of the character and of the heart in the general principles of the Christian religion should be handed in hand with all necessary mental and physical training; and that you will never be content with a system of public instruction which ignores the source of true morality and finds no place for those lessons which the Inspired Word of God can alone teach us.

And now, in conclusion, brethren, I earnestly ask you, each in his place in our beloved church, to labour loyally and increasingly for the spread of true religion. Let us believe firmly in Him who gave Himself for us, who has called us to work for Him and has said "I will never leave thee nor forsake thee." Let us have confidence in each other. Let us seek in all we say and do to show forth His Glory and to build up His Church—that church which has the Divine Spirit within her to guide her aright and whose members small and great, may continually get good and be refreshed by the self-same Spirit. God grant to each one of us to believe, to love, to follow and labour for Christ and that an abiding entrance into the Eternal Kingdom may be granted to us—those whom He has called into the ministry of His Church—that we may be permitted to see it in any sense to Him as the fruit of labor He has called us to perform and gives us the Grace to do.

On motion of Rev. Canon Flett, seconded by Andrew Spence, Esq., J. P., the following persons were appointed a committee to draft a reply to the Bishop's address:—Ven. Archdeacon Mackay, Rev. George Macleod, James McKay, Esq., J. C. chairman, James Taylor, Esq., and the mover and seconder.

After due consideration, they brought in the following report:—The committee appointed by the Synod to consider the Bishop's address beg to report as follows:—

1st.—The committee desires to express its gratification at the increase in the number of clergy in the Diocese as shown by the address. TWENTY YEARS OF SUCCESS

The Scotchman of Toronto has entered on its twentieth year of publication and is the oldest and largest purely Protestant paper published on this continent, being the official organ of the Royal Orange Association of British America. During the past two years many important improvements have been made in the paper, which renders it invaluable to all who are interested in the cause of civil and religious liberty. The Scotchman is absolutely free from all political partisanship and unparagoned of its kind, pure in its dealings with Rome. The price is only $1 per year sent weekly to any part of Canada or the United States.

RELIEF IN SIX HOURS.—Distressing Kidney and Bladder diseases relieved in six hours by the "NEW SOUTH AMERICAN KIDNEY CURE." This new remedy is a great surprise on account of its exceeding promptness in relieving pain in the bladder, kidneys, back and every part of the urinary passages in male or female. It relieves retention of water and pain in passing it almost immediately. Sold by J. G. White & Co.

THEY WANT NAMES. Frank S. Taylor & Co., 29 King Street West, Toronto, Ontario, desire the names and addresses of a few people in every town who are interested in works of art, and to secure them they offer to send them, "Capital Guide the Book," a superbly executed water color picture, size 10x12 inches, suitable for framing, and sixteen other pictures about same size, in colors to anyone sending them at once the names and addresses of ten persons (all adults of five pictures) together with five five-cent stamps to cover expense of mailing, etc. The regular price of these pictures is $1.00, but they can all be secured free by any person forwarding the names and stamps promptly.

NOTE.—The editor of this paper has already received copies of above picture and considers them really "Gems of Art."

How many persons know that Ripans Tabules, now so largely advertised and used, is simply the favor's prescription of their family doctor for a scientific manner and a form convenient for handling, conveying, preservation and use? In the great hospitals of the metropolitan cities, where the world's best better care than in their own luxurious homes, the ingredients of Ripans Tabules are administered to thousands of rich and poor alike with beneficial effect. They are the main dependence of the most eminent physicians in cases of derangement of the digestive organs, such as dyspepsia, constipation, biliousness and other ills connected with the stomach, liver and bowels. For some years one of the principal hospitals in New York City has used a formula, differing slightly from the common one, that has been found of unusual efficacy. Through the commendations of physicians its mode of healing has been so widely and rapidly extended that it finally seemed desirable to prepare the prescriptions in a convenient form, so as to make it available to the whole public at a moderate price, and to announce the fact through the recognized medium for securing publicity—advertisements in the columns of the newspapers of the land. This has been done, and now the time is not far distant when every family of intelligence will be certain to possess a supply of Ripans Tabules as a check on a sickening stomach. They are already to be found on sale almost everywhere, and any druggist or dealer will supply them. A box, containing six vials, is sold for 75 cents, and a gross package, containing four boxes, for $2. They will be sent by mail, post paid, to any address, on receipt of price, by the Ripans Chemical Company, No. 16 Spruce St., New York.
